Sunny Gale Sings at Ball

The Wistaria Ball which will be held tomorrow night at the Ritz Ballroom will start off the University's traditional Wistaria Weekend.

Sunny Gale, singing sensation of Victor records, backed by the music of Pat Dorn will furnish the evening's musical entertainment.

The Wistaria Queen will be chosen at the ball from among eight finalists and her "royal highness" will reign over the weekend. The finalists for the title are:

Doris Schwartz, 18, who hails from Brooklyn and is a sophomore majoring in education. Doris stands 5' 10 1/2" and has dark brown hair with blue eyes.

Lois Schwartz, candidate number two, 19, a resident of Bell Harbor, N. Y., is a sophomore in fashion merchandising. She has brown hair, green eyes and stands 5' 2".

Pauline Sorel, of Fall River, Mass., resides at Seaside Hall and is a senior majoring in Dental Hygiene. Pauline is 5' 5" with brown hair and blue eyes.

Yolanda Delmore, 20, a Bridgeport commuter, is studying education and is a junior. She is 5' 7" and has green eyes and brown hair.

Hailing from Scarsdale, N. Y., Jane Trattner, 21, resides in Seaside Hall. Jane is a junior majoring in education. 5' 9" tall she has brown hair and eyes.

Blond hair and green eyes are two of the assets found in the sixth aspirant, Ruth Nodland, 19, a sophomore from Bellmore, N. Y. Studying fashion merchandising, Ruth is also a cheerleader.

Graduating sophomore, Josephine Cassarino, 19, is a fashion merchandising major from Wilton, Conn. and resides at Park Hall. She is 5' 4", and has brown hair and eyes.

Rounding out the list of candidates is Norma Buck, 19, a sophomore in the Weylister Secretarial Schol. She has blond hair and blue eyes to go with her 5' 5" stature.

On Saturday various organizations will hold reunions and luncheons. The University alumni will gather here for their annual meeting, as will Arnold College.

A highlight of the afternoon's activities will be the varsity baseball game against Fairfield University which will be held on diamond number one at Seaside Park. Game time is 2 p. m.

Sunday the weekend will be brought to an end with the annual presentation of the Wistaria Pageant. Written and directed each year by Albert Dickason, the pageant highlights some activity in the cultural and historical life of the area.

Kern Names Bowen Admissions Assistant

Mrs. Dorothy Edwards Bowen of 1481 Fairfield Ave. has been named to the position of assistant director of admissions at the University of Bridgeport, Dr. Donald W. Kern, director of admissions announced today.

Presently serving as secretary to Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice president of the University, Mrs. Bowen will assume her new duties in June.

She will take the place of Russell Gorden, formerly of Hamden, Conn., who resigned to accept a position with the Addressograph-Multigraph Co. of New Haven.

As assistant director of admissions she will visit high schools throughout the east describing the University to high school students as well as performing regular duties at the University's admissions office.

Mrs. Bowen is a graduate of Bassick High school and the Junior College of Connecticut. She will complete requirements for a bachelor of science degree in educational psychology at the University this summer.

ELECTION DATES CHANGED

The Student Council has announced that the election dates for Student Council candidates has been changed to Thursday and Friday, May 10 and 11. Applications may be obtained at the Council's office in Alumni Hall and must be returned to that office before 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 8.

Halsey Praises Carlson Turnout

More than 1,300 attended the formal ceremonies of the dedicatory services for the new Carlson Library on Friday. The large turnout prompted President James H. Halsey to say: "Never in our history have we had such a spectacularly successful two-day program. It has enhanced the University's reputation and prestige so greatly. I was particularly impressed with the capacity audience at the Klein."

The Thursday night dinner for New England College Librarians at the Stratfield Hotel was highlighted with a talk by William S. Dix, librarian, Princeton University, in which he called today's college librarian a partner of the classroom professor in stimulation of the search for truth.

At Friday's convocation, formal tribute was paid to Phillip and William Carlson, whose generous donation made the library possible. Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Higher Education, delivered the main convocation message in which he called for a library service that would produce mass education only on a basis of quality service with a special appeal to each individual mind.

After the dedication ceremonies, the library remained open on Saturday and Sunday for public inspection.

Educator to Address Charter Day Dinner

Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, Chancellor of Boston University, will address guests at the University's third annual Charter Day Dinner on the subject, "What Does It Really Mean to be Educated?"

The dinner, to be sponsored by the Board of Associates on Wednesday, May 16, in the Rose Room of the Stratfield Hotel, commemorates the origin and progress of the University. This year, Charter Day celebrates the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the Junior College of Connecticut and the ninth of the founding of the University.

New Business Course Dean Read Announces

A new course, General Business 399—"Field Work in Business", has been announced by the Dean of the College of Business Administration, Eaton V. W. Read.

The object of the course is "supervised internship or field work in the major with independent study, leading to the production of a written evaluation of some aspect of the area under evaluation."

Advertising Salesmanship has been proposed as the first field work course under G. B. 399 and will be offered during the second term of the summer session, July 30 to August 31. It will give practical experience to the student in selling small space advertising; the fundamentals of classified advertising; and the planning and executing of sustained advertising programs. The students will get actual experience as temporary members of the classified advertising staff of the New York Herald Tribune.

Wolff Says Attendance a Problem

Marked infraction of attendance regulation by students are developing into a major problem according to Dr. Alfred E. Wolff, director of Student Personnel. "Students must understand," said Wolff, "that there is no such thing as excused absences, but the University realizes, that some students are confronted with certain obligations and must miss a class or school day."

"If the student has a legitimate excuse, the instructor will accept it; yet, the student is oftentimes under the misconception that it does not count as a cut," said Wolff. Dr. Wolff emphatically stated that it most certainly was a 'cut'. In regard to the number of 'cuts' students are allowed, Dr.

Wolff said, it was entirely up to the instructor. Usually, the number of semester hours of the course relates the number of 'cuts' permitted. This is up to the instructor's discretion. Regardless whether the 'cut' is excused or not, it does count as a 'cut'.

Students who were absent from classes because of suspension for parking violations will have such absences noted in the instructor's record book. However, it is recommended that students not be debarred from class at this time on the basis of their additional absences caused by their suspension from classes. This explicitly does not mean that students who have further absences from classes can say that they should not be debarred because, "the absences incurred as a result of the suspension for their violation of the Parking Regulations were excused." Instructors have the authority to debar a student if he takes 'cuts' in excess of the course semester hours.

Regarding make-up tests or quizzes, Dr. Wolff said, "instructors may give a make-up test to the student as soon as possible; but if the student fails to take the make-up on the date set, then the instructor can give the student a zero."

Wolff also stated that the University would like students to attend all classes regularly.

College Crowding Revealed

by Jack J. Hurley

In viewing the findings of a recent investigation into the growing problem of overcrowded Connecticut colleges, President James H. Halsey stated that it was the first real step toward cooperation between state and private institution.

Under the direction of former Governor John Lodge, the Connecticut Public Expenditures Council compiled a report on present conditions in colleges throughout the state and their plans for future expansion. The report, confederation was placed on Governor Abraham Ribicoff's desk last month.

In an effort to "collect material essential to the determination of the state's responsibility for providing post-secondary education for the citizens of Connecticut", the Council interviewed President Halsey and other leading educators throughout the country. The Council attempted to compile opinions on three major questions: Who should go to college? Who should provide higher education? Who should pay for higher education?

In answer to the first question, President Halsey was joined by James H. O'Connell, former president of Harvard, and others when he expressed the opinion that "two years of post-secondary education for all children of all people" was necessary and that properly qualified and motivated persons should receive additional education.

It was recommended that a system of State junior colleges should be built throughout Connecticut but these schools should not be in competition with the private institutions. In order to meet the heavy enrollments that are expected over the next 10 years the private colleges would have to expand almost two and one-half times their present facilities.

With no competition from the State in this area, President Halsey feels confident that the University will meet this goal. However, the Council reports that the endowed institutions like Yale, Wesleyan and Trinity have gone on record as not willing to expand or, if so, only in a limited way. Therefore, it was concluded that the major job of education

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

This past weekend the Social Activities Committee put on 'The Weekend On A Dollar'. Friday night was a Carnival sponsored by the Sophomore Class at Alumni Hall; Saturday night, the play 'The Philadelphia Story' was presented at the Drama Center and on Sunday there was a jam session with Ed Graf and a talent show put on by various members of the student body.

The attendance of the students at these various functions was the worst that the University has seen in a long while. The carnival was the most successful of the three events scheduled, drawing approximately 300 people. The play on Saturday had a meager 30 people in the audience of which many were the faculty. It cost $150 to hire this professional cast. Imagine their opinion of the University of Bridgeport. On Sunday there was another very poor showing—approximately 35. Special awards for athletes were presented at this time but only three out of twenty had the decency to show up for the presentations.

The long hours and the effort expended by Mrs. Marion Lunn and her committee seems fruitless since the student participation this weekend was almost nothing.

Where were all our student leaders: President of IFC, Student Council, Fraternities and Sororities, etc.?

I don't know why the school continues having different functions for the benefit of the students when the students show no appreciation for what is done for them.

For those who had the decency to attend these various affairs, I congratulate you. For those who did not — — — — — YOU KNOW WHO YOU ARE!!

falls on the State schools and the nine community colleges. In comparing the cost of a higher education in a State institution to that in a community college, President Halsey feels that "the State is giving away an education." If one was to compare the cost of attending a State Teachers college to the expenses of an education major at the University of Bridgeport, the difference bears out the President's statement.

He points out that the tuition at State schools should be brought into line with other colleges with financial assistance going to those who could not afford it.

President Halsey feels that the facilities of the University of Connecticut were being wasted. The cost of teaching freshmen and sophomores at the Storrs campus could be eliminated under the junior college system and that the physical plant could be used for advanced work. As President Halsey visualizes it, the junior college system would operate like this:

The State would build a junior college in a town like Waterbury, which has no community college, but it would not build one in Bridgeport. The students in the Bridgeport area could then apply for state aid if they needed it and attend the University. In this way more students are allowed to get an education without unnecessary construction of a State school in Bridgeport. President Halsey sums up the situation as a clear cut case of utilizing the colleges that are in operation instead of going into cooperation with them.

In regards to State appropriations to the community colleges themselves, President Halsey feels that a formula could be worked out whereby the private schools would receive financial aid for capital expenditures.

The most significant recommendation offered by the Council was the proposal that the Governor set up Higher Education Policy Committee comprised of top executives or board members representing the four principal categories of higher education institutions, namely State, private community, denominational and privately endowed for reporting to the Governor and the General Assembly its recommendation for an over-all policy for higher education.

Agency Offers Girls Summer Positions

The opportunity for college girls to go into different types of office work in some 45 cities as the result of a demand by employers for white collar personnel to fill positions left vacant for short periods by vacations, sick leaves or for leveling off peak loads, has been announced by the national Russell Kelly Office Employment Service.

Kelly Service pays the girls directly, collecting from the employer. No fee is charged the girl. She gets the same wages as a regular employee, instead of being forced to take less money because she is not "permanent."

The local Russell Kelly Office is located in Hartford.

Dorn & Gale Storm
Ritz for Wistaria

And then there was the sad story of the socially illiterate freshman girl, who refused a date to the Wistaria Ball, because "they aren't giving any convocation credits for it". Odds are about 100 to 1 that she won't be around much longer to get another convo credit.

All hands agree that Sunny Gale should be tremendous tomorrow night, when she will be featured at the Ball with Pat Dorn and his Orchestra. The Ritz will really be packed for the "Big Weekend" at Bridgeport. And don't miss the Pageant at 3 p. m. on Sunday, the Wistaria Queen will reign in all her splendor. The program will be based on a sequel of UB life, which will be staged by the Knights of Thunder under the talented direction of Al Dickason.

Those of us who attended the Carlson Convocation at the Klein last Friday, heard one of Bridgeport's finest and most gracious citizens, Mr. William Carlson, speak. His humility was stirring evidence to his success.

His brief, but enthralling speech, left every member of the audience with an inspiring afterthought, hard work is the real keystone to success. And he and his brother, Phillip, leave no room for doubting this axiom. Thank you, Brothers Carlson, for the memorial heritage you have given us which will live a long time after you and we are gone.

Healing hopes and get-well wishes are in the air for Nursing student, Judy Thompson, who is ill in Bridgeport Hospital. This way she won't be given any cuts. Smart girl. . .

Education major, Shirley Miller of Linden Hall, and the biggest wheel in Stamford Hall, Marre Lapidus are a steady duo.

A bucket of orchids to two unsung heroines, Louise Battistelli and Sue Levine, for their unselfish voluntary efforts as secretaries at the Cancer Society. If you have ever had friends or relatives afflicted with this terrible malady, you can certainly appreciate the work and its importance. Your help is also needed.

Another welcome addition to the "goin' steady" list is Sue Freidling of Schiott Hall and local man Larry Lubov.

The sisters of Pi Omicron Upsilon will celebrate the end of the social year with a Cinderella Ball on May 18. The girls have always chosen novel places at which to hold their jubilees and this one is no exception. They've picked the Housatonic Lodge, Barnum Ave., in Stratford.

Star athlete, Jim Davins, is rumored to be playing steady ball with former Frosh Queen candidate, Crit Herr. It looks like a good play, even from the grandstands.

Suffern, N. Y. native, Betty Anne Eisenberg of Seaside Hall announced her plans for wedding bells and a subsequent trip down the aisle with UB and Boston U. Law School grad, Cy Gelfand. Cy was one of the founders of POC fraternity, in his old undergraduate days.

Also on the "forever and ever" list are Joe Cumbo of POC and Kathleen Connors, Freshman Ed. major and local Bridgeporter.

If you already haven't noticed, you might slide your handy, little eyes back to the by-line on this column and discover the addition of another name. Please don't mistake the higher picture of a girl whispering into a Wright ear as the Wright-Caprio combination. That's not Caprio; he has shorter hair. You'll hear more from Cappy next week.

If that Suspension List of two weeks ago wasn't enough for your rich blood, hold onto to your hats, kiddies. A very reliable source reports that another "get lost" roster will hit the campus within a few days. This one will have the names of those students who failed to register their cars (continued on page 4)

Lockwood Stars For UB Golfers In Easy Victory

Al Sherman and his successful golf team won their third match in four outings as they topped Iona College from New Rochelle 6½ to 2½ at the Mill River Country Club. The Knights are out to at least tie last season's tremendous 10-1 record.

The Knights' lone setback came at the hands of a strong Manhattan College team by a 5-4 score. UB has defeated Fairleigh-Dickinson by a 6-3 count; Hillyer 5-4 and now Iona College.

Pacing the Knights is their captain and star Dick Lockwood. Others on the outstanding team are Al Weiner, Jerry Norko, Bill Campbell, Paul Wegerdt and reserve men Ed DeNike and Ed Stanczyk.

The Knights are entered in the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, in which they captured second place last season. The golfers face Seton Hall tomorrow afternoon.

Knights Meet Stags After Defeat to Friars

The Purple Knight baseball team was denied its third win of the season last Wednesday when the Friars from Providence College pushed across three runs in the top of the 12th inning to win 10-7.

UB's hopes faded in the early innings when starting pitcher Larry Babich was hit hard. The lanky right-hander, who had not been scored on previously, was charged with six runs in the three innings he pitched.

Bob Sullivan, making his fourth relief appearance of the year, replaced Babich in the fourth inning. Sullivan held the Friars to one run in the six innings he hurled.

By bunching together three runs in the fourth and seventh innings and one in the ninth, the McKeonmen forced the contest into extra innings.

Hughie Bartlett replaced Sullivan on the mound, but had to be relieved by Tom Skudlarek with one on and one out in the tenth inning.

Skudlarek put out the fire and held the boys from Rhode Island scoreless until the 12th inning. PC pushed across the three runs in this frame that proved to be the winning margin.

Bridgeport's record on the season is now 2-4. Coach McKeon stated that "this is not an accurate evaluation of the team. My boys are beginning to play good ball and with a little cooperation from the weatherman could wind up the season in winning style."

McKeon said he was pleased by the hitting of Charlie Pike and Lorin Beresnyak. Pike has been hitting the long ball recently, while Beresnyak has been coming through in the clutch.

On Saturday the UB team meets their traditional rival, Fairfield University. Fairfield has won one while losing three this season.

Bridgeport will be going into the game a slight favorite. The Fairfield charges will be led by second baseman Dan Grosso, catcher Pedro Tagatac and outfielder Fred Waters. Waters is Fairfield's leading slugger.

Both clubs have defeated Fairleigh-Dickinson this season. Fairfield won 3-0, while UB eked out a 3-2 decision. Both teams have had losses at the hands of New Haven State Teachers College and Rider College.

Coach McKeon has not named his starting pitchers for Saturday, but it is expected that either Norm O'Donnell (1-1) or Tom Skudlarek (0-3) will get the nod.

Trinity Tops Frosh, 7-5 As Smith Stars at Bat

After a two-week wait for a ball game, the Purple Knight cubs traveled to Hartford, Conn., to play the Trinity College junior varsity last Saturday and returned home on the losing end of a 7-5 score.

With 6-6 Pete Brown hurling in his second game, the yearlings of Lou Saccone jumped out to a 5-2 lead after six and one-half innings of play. Brown suddenly lost his stuff and was hit for four big tallies in the home half of the seventh as Trinity took a 6-5 lead. Bernie "Skip" DePace hurled the eighth frame and was the victim of an unearned run.

The Sacconemen tallied single runs in the first and second stanzas and slammed across three more in the fifth to break a 2-2 tie at that point. Rightfielder Johnny Aslan drove home UB's initial run as he smashed a tremendous triple to left center. Second sacker Vandy Kirk drove in two more runs for the Knights, while some sloppy fielding by the Hartford lads allowed the Purple and White to tally two more runs.

Tracy Smith, UB's leading batter, was again the team's top hitter, as he collected three hits including a double. Leftfielder Ed Wakim, another of the yearling's top batters, collected two hits.

After winning their first two games of the season against Hofstra College and Yale University, the Sacconemen have dropped their last two encounters to Cheshire Academy and now Trinity College. The frosh return to action next Thursday in a road tilt against the freshmen from Wesleyan University.

Carr Tops for UB; Knights Lose Two

Walt Kondratovich's track and field squad opened their 1956 season with home and away dual meets with Upsala College and Fairleigh-Dickinson College. The Knights lost both encounters by scores of 58-54 and 79-49½.

Co-captain Paul Hennion paced the Knights against Upsala in point-getting with 11, while Bill Barstow and Nick D'Aluisio were close behind with nine points. Hennion took first place in both the javelin and shot-put events along with a third place finish in the discus throw. Barstow and D'Aluisio finished in a tie for first in the high jump, with Barstow also taking first place in the Fraternities and sororities will be participating in a various assortment of cocktail parties throughout Wistaria weekend. Tuxedos, gowns and flowers will be the featured attire as wealthy cheapskates and poverty stricken spenders all end up in the poor house for the sake of an extra half hour granted for late permission.

SIGMA PHI ALPHA can be found at Port 5 in Black Rock before and after the dance Friday night. The brothers will also indulge in a short stay at Marina cottage in Milford beach beginning Saturday afternoon and extending through Sunday night. Eats, drinks, drinks, drinks and drinks are included in the varied assortment of refreshments.

SIGMA OMICRON SIGMA will launch their Wistaria activities when they invade the House of Chapman for a Bridey Murphy party entitled, "Come as You Were." The boys are all set on their individual attire. The big question is: How is Mr. Chapman coming?

SIGMA LAMBDA CHI will combine their annual banquet and installation of officers with other weekend festivities.

Mr. Ivy dresser of 1934, Sam Goldberg, is expected to add his usual wisecracking and rollicking humor to fraternity parties. Recently renovated Housatonic Lodge will go through a house cleaning campaign in order to conceal all candelabras.

THETA SIGMA will attend a pre-dance cocktail party at brother Rick Topham's house. All short drinkers under six feet tall are advised to wear stilts in order to reach the drinking glasses. Dorr's Estate in Westport will be the site of a wild picnic Saturday afternoon.

The sisters of CHI ZETA RHO recently celebrated Marge Fenick's birthday at a sorority meeting. Chef Carol Hajas treated the girls with an excellent bit of baking. In the near future the sisters will hold a picnic in Newtown, Connecticut.

A great deal of credit is due to Sugar Aronson, chairman of last Friday's highly successful Sophomore Carnival.

CHI SIGMA DELTA has all breeds of candidates running for all kinds of elections. Pretty Ruth Nodland is among the finalists for Wistaria Queen and the following will compete in elections for Women's House Government: Sugar Aronson, Olga del La Victoria and Bobbie Warner.

Yolanda Delmore and Jane Trattner will be vying for BETA GAMMA honors in the present Wistaria Queen contest.

The girls have converted from preachers to candidates. Their marriage booth at the Carnival was perhaps not the most exciting, but definitely the most challenging.
